Lipsmart

Lipsmart The best way to get a luscious pair of smackers would be to invest in a time machine and ensure Angelina Jolie is your biological mother. If you weren't so lucky and your DNA didn't leave you with the pout you desire, then you've a limited number of choices - the needle, or the lip plumper. Lip plumpers are numerous, but most have one thing in common, they hurt. Lipsmart claims to be a pain-free way to get pumped up lips, while also filling in fine lines, and leaving your lips so moisturised they are as smooth as silk. A miracle, basically. If it works, then £19.95 is a small price to pay.
